

Ever wondered what it's like to stay in a Red Cross shelter?

Join the Anchorage Office of Emergency Management and the American Red Cross of Alaska for an exciting, overnight emergency shelter experience. As part of an ongoing effort to improve the Municipality's ability to provide service and support to individuals with disabilities during disasters, the MOA and Red Cross will be conducting a shelter training exercise January 26-27, 2013 and YOU are invited!

When: 9am - 9am, Jan 26-27, 2013

Where: Spenard Recreation Center

Who: Anyone who has registered

Cost: Free

Only 50 spots available

**Registration is required****

Individuals with Disabilities

We need your help to test our capabilities. If you do not require medical care and are willing to spend the night at the Red Cross shelter, get registered today! This exercise will help the MOA and Red Cross improve services to you during a disaster. We want your input & feedback.

10 reasons you should come spend a night in a Red Cross shelter:

1. Help improve services you may need some day
2. Learn what to expect & what not to expect at a shelter
3. You get to sleep on the very comfy cots
4. Make a positive impact on your community
5. Fun, unique experience
6. Get some great disaster preparedness education
7. Learn what you will want to take with you to a shelter
8. Free food
9. Complete a preparedness badge for scouts
10. So you can brag to everyone you know that you participated in a training exercise with the Office of Emergency Management and Red Cross of Alaska

IMPORTANT:

- Service animals are welcome but please leave pets at home.
- Children of all ages are welcome. Parents must directly supervise their children.
- This is not a peanut or wheat free environment.
